CAREERUP

For decades, care and enthusiasm have been hallmarks of the education industry. But care and enthusiasm when finding internships? That's not so easy.

As one of the leading intern abroad programs in the world, CareerUp has been connecting talented students and young professionals with world-class internships abroad since 2013.

CareerUp offers students a premium and personalized experience, made possible by their program's unique and powerful database.

"Every year we receive thousands and thousands of applicants from all over the world, and we connect them to the right companies."

Daniel Wright, Admission Counselor
According to many studies, internship experience is more significant for career success than college reputation, GPA, or completed coursework. CareerUp connects candidates with the best internships by placing them into the world's fastest-growing economies. Their educational programs have started hundreds of successful careers and built lasting connections across the globe.

“Strong experience creates strong individuals.”
With offices in San Francisco, Montreal, Manila, and Singapore, it became nearly impossible to manually manage resumes and applications they received from around the world.

I think the biggest challenge for us was to organize and be efficient at managing the rapidly increasing volume of application coming in for our educational program.

Samuel Chenard, Chief Technology Officer

Complications only increased. Usually, as manual entries go up, there is always the problem of speed. No matter how quickly humans can type, process data, and think, speed will always be a problem when working without a system. Employees do not work at the exact speed during an entire workday. Also, the more information CareerUp stored, the higher the potential security risk.
IN SEARCH OF THE RIGHT TOOL.

Zoho Recruit was not CareerUp's first choice. It initially used Zoho CRM for maintaining its online database, but it soon made them realize that a CRM built for sales will never match software built with the recruiter in mind. They switched to Zoho Recruit and instantly struck gold.

"After unleashing the core power of the software and gaining experience, we realized that there was an even better version of Zoho we could transition to that could automate our recruiting."

Daniel Wright, Admission Counselor
With the help of Zoho, we are able to invest more time and resources on the only thing that really matters: the experience of our customers.
